Library Director’s Report
Tina Stewart presented the COVID 19 Services Update. Beginning Monday, November 2, patrons were permitted on the first floor of the library without an appointment. The numbers show that 75 more people visited the library than the previous weeks’ averages. Given that there is no seating allowed, the average visit is usually no more than ten minutes. Appointments in the Children’s Room continue to be steady. Kathleen Reynolds asked if there was a plan in place if a staff member tests positive for COVID. Mrs. Stewart indicated that she would follow the protocols as directed by the Board of Health, which may include staff having to quarantine and a temporary shutdown of the library.

The library offered 50 programs with 779 attendees in October. We continued to collabrate with area libraries to present virtual programs. The response from attendees to these programs has been very good. The Youth Services Department has reached out to the Wilmington Public Schools offering support services. Parents have appreciated the library’s outdoor programs while the weather has been nice.
Eleven of the 14 laminated pages of the book “Are Your Stars Like My Stars” that were part of the Story Walk at Rotary Park were taken. The incident was reported to the Wilmington Police who publicized the theft on social media. Youth Services Librarian Barbara Raab is weighing options on replacing the Story Walk at Rotary Park or using a different location.

The library has purchased Biblioboard, a software platform service that allows the library to collect creative content including print and non-print materials that can then be shared with the community. The first year annual cost of $2,480 has been charged to LIG/MEG and will be included in the library’s contractual budget going forward.

Jaqueline Strob, who has been working as a Library Page for the past three years, has been appointed to the position of part-time Library Associate effective November 16. She replaces Desiree Maguire who retired.

The 150th library anniversary committee has been formed. The committee, which includes Dianna DeGreggorio, Anne St. Onge, Terry McDermott, Kathleen Reynolds, Tina Stewart and Charlotte Wood, will meet in a few weeks to begin planning a celebration for summer 2021.

Library Director Tina Stewart indicated that she is in the process of preparing the FY22 budget which is due December 4. Personnel costs are likely to be less due to the number of retirements and resignations this past year.
